Urrutia Puts New Regime In High Gear

Cuba's Provisional
Leader Acts Swiftly,
Cancels Martial Law

HAVANA (AP) — Provisional President Manuel Urrutia put his government into high gear today after taking control of the Presidential Palace and canceling martial law in Havana.

Acting speedily after his arrival in the capital Monday night, Urrutia:

- (1) Named Jose Miro Cardona, president of the Havana Bar Assn. to be premier of his government;
- (2) Announced free elections would be held within 18 months to two years;
- (3) Summoned his new cabinet into a post-midnight meeting;
- (4) Rescinded the martial law proclamation and curfew extension decreed earlier by the provisional government's military chief for Havana province.

Briefed by Castro

Urrutia flew to Havana from Camaguey following a talk with Fidel Castro, leader of the uprising that ousted Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Castro continued his victory procession toward Havana with 3,000 of his guerrilla warriors and new supporters from Batista's military forces. He is expected in Havana Wednesday.

Urrutia said the rebel chief prefers to remain outside the cabinet in order that he may observe developments.

Gambling Outlawed

The President named additional cabinet officers, bringing it to 11 members, but still had to appoint ministers of defense, communications and interior.

Urrutia also announced his government would not allow gambling, which under Batista had grown to a multimillion dollar industry.

Mikoyan Conciliatory Red Deputy Eases Position on Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan was reported today to have assured the United States of continued free Western access to Berlin.

Such a pledge would go to the heart of the current East-West tension over Berlin's future. It would signal a major concession by the Kremlin to the West's objections to Soviet demands to make a "free city" of Berlin.

Major Points Covered

Mikoyan was understood to have told high level State Department, business and congressional leaders Monday night:

1. The Soviet Union is determined to turn over administration of East Berlin to the puppet East German Communist regime, regardless of U.S.-British-French Denunciation of the plan.
2. The Soviet Union is not trying to throw the Allies out of West Berlin, even though Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in a Nov. 27 note, suggested withdrawal of all Allied troops from the city.
3. The Soviet Union simply feels the time has come, 13 years after the end of World War II, to give Berlin a new status.
4. The United States, Britain and France, in replying last week to Khrushchev's note, were remiss in not coming up with some counterproposal which might have provided the basis for negotiation.
5. The Soviet decision to have East Berlin over to East Germany by next May in no way implies a peace-or-war ultimatum; continued free access to Berlin, 110 miles inside East Germany, could be arranged, and a role may be found for the United Nations to play in guaranteeing this.

Lays Cards on Table

The 63-year-old Mikoyan, second in Kremlin power only to Khrushchev, laid these cards on the table in replying to questions at an exclusive dinner given for him by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America.

Johnston was apologetic afterward for inviting some newsmen and letting others shiver outside his swank headquarters in 15-degree temperature. He said the five invited were "personal friends."

Hovering outside also were about 50 anti-Communist pickets, refugees from Iron Curtain countries. Sparked by former Freedom Fighters in Hungary's abortive 1957 revolts they brandished placards, shook fists and screamed in cadence: "Mik-o-yan the murderer!"

Mikoyan and his party, arriving for the dinner in a Soviet Embassy Cadillac, paid no attention to the pickets.

Confers With Dulles

Mikoyan conferred for 95 minutes with Secretary of State Dulles at the State Department Monday, primarily about Berlin. Afterward, he said he will talk about Berlin and other tension topics with President Eisenhower on Jan. 19 or 20.

He is due back in Washington Jan. 19 after visiting several American cities. It was learned he will fly at 8 a.m. EST Wednesday to Cleveland to confer with industrialist Cyrus Eaton. The American millionaire recently conferred in Moscow with Khrushchev and Mikoyan.

Ohio Senate Studies New Pay Hike Bill

Requests by DiSalle
Pass House 104-25;
Highway Post Is Cut

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Just like two years ago, the Ohio legislature is in the process of raising the salaries of most top appointive state officials at the outset of the legislative session.

But this time the cast of characters is different.

Two years ago, Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill asked for and got whopping pay raises for his cabinet members. The raise was granted by a GOP-dominated legislature in the first week of the 1957 session—even before O'Neill took office.

Pay Raises Passed

Monday, a Democratic-dominated house received, passed 104-25 and sent to the senate a pay-raise bill sought by Democratic Gov-elect Michael V. DiSalle who will not take office until Jan. 12.

Chances are the Democratic-controlled senate will pass the bill today without much trouble. The Republican minority is expected to support it.

The difference: DiSalle probably will stick by his pay-raise guns. O'Neill, after weeks of fretting in early 1957, asked the legislature to revoke most of the pay increases he had asked earlier.

The DiSalle-sponsored pay raises are more moderate than those O'Neill asked and later scuttled.

The pay measure, sponsored by House Majority Leader Jesse Yoder (D-Montgomery), would cut the salary of the director of highways from $30,000 a year ($5,000 more than the governor receives) to $22,500. It would grant these raises:

Director of mental hygiene and correction from $18,000 to $22,500.

Director of health from $12,000 to $16,000.

Tax commissioner from $12,000 to $15,000.

Other Salaries

Directors of natural resources, liquor, unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation from $12,000 to $14,000.

Directors of commerce, public works, agriculture, industrial relations, welfare, highway safety and insurance from $10,000 to $14,000.

The house, with a 78-61 Democratic-controlled by a 20-13 edge, ran true to form in the opening day of the session. They formally selected the officers agreed upon earlier in party caucuses.

President pro tem and majority leader of the senate is Sen. Frank W. King (D-Lucas). The $12,000-a-year spot as clerk of the senate was won by former senate minority leader Joseph W. Bartunek of

Balloon Crew Finishes Trip After 24 Days

Party of Four Picked
Up in Gondola-Boat
4 Hours Off Barbados

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (AP) — The balloon trip of four Britons trying to span the Atlantic lasted only three days, it was disclosed today. They spent 21 more days floating at sea in the balloon's gondola, constructed for double duty as a lifeboat.

The three men and a woman set off Dec. 12 from the Canary Islands, seeking to float on the wind 3,000 miles to Barbados. They reached here Monday after a fisherman picked them up at sea.

They had traveled about 1,200 miles by air and more than 2,000 miles by sea. All four had been on rations of a few ounces of food daily since Dec. 15. All looked thin but otherwise in fairly good condition.

They had cut loose the balloon in a storm for fear of going to heights where they would lose control and the bag would burst. This was after, at one stage, they jettisoned a radio receiver and

Low Is 6 Below

Some Moderation Due in Bitter Cold

Winter handed Marion County another clout Monday and the mercury sank to an overnight low of 6 below zero, 2 degrees less than the minus 8 recorded Monday morning.

The cold was expected to continue today, with a warmer trend anticipated Wednesday.

BUT THE REAL significance of the weather over the last 24 hours was in Monday's high temperature reading of 9 above. For Monday was easily the coldest day to date this season, or, in fact, for the two winters past.

The second coldest day this winter was on Dec. 10, when, following an overnight low of minus 13, the mercury climbed to only 17 above.

The coldest day a year ago was the 11 above recorded on Feb. 17, while in 1957 local residents experienced the coldest day on Jan. 15, with the thermometer reading 13 above.

At noon today, under a partial overcast, the mercury read 7 above.

Skies were generally clear from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast. The bitter cold that moved into the Rockies last week and spread across the eastern two-thirds of the nation was blamed for at least 44 deaths in 14 states. Included were victims of exposure, auto accidents on snow or ice-slicked roads and heart attacks induced by over-exertion while shoveling snow.

As the cold air moved into the Eastern areas Monday, temperatures plunged as much as 40 degrees in some sections. They skidded to near zero in the Pennsylvania mountain district.

It was still cold during the night and early morning in the Mid-

Building Housing 45

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Wind-blown fire killed at least seven student airmen and injured 13 today as they fought like animals to escape from their barracks dormitory at Syracuse University.

"It was like animals, trying to get out of a cage," moaned Sgt. Peter Dowling, 25, Kalamazoo, Mich., in his hospital bed.

The one-story, prefabricated barracks housed 45 Air Force men assigned to the university to study Russian. Their headquarters was at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio.

Names of the dead were withheld until next of kin could be notified.

Fire officials said the fire apparently started from a heating unit as the students slept.

Winds up to 50 miles an hour whipped the flames into "a river of fire," said Donald Dowling, 19, Rochester, another of the injured. "I heard a crackling sound. I thought it was the man who comes around to wake us up. I saw an orange light filtering through the door. I got out of bed, and opened the door. It was a river of fire going down the hall. I was terrified," he said.

Peter Dowling, unrelated to Donald, told of trying to reach a fire extinguisher outside his room. "But the fire and smoke were so great that I couldn't stand it," he told reporters. "Everybody

Blaze Breaks Out at School In Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — The McMahon Gymnasium, adjoining Cambridge Public High School is afire with the flames threatening the adjoining high school, firemen reported today.

Also threatened by the flames, which reportedly started in a music room in the gymnasium, are the new St. Benedict High School and St. Benedict Catholic Church. These buildings are close to the public high school.

Construction of the St. Benedict school has just been completed, and is not occupied.

The 1,500 students at Cambridge High were at lunch and the building empty when the fire started. The flames quickly spread over the two-story brick building. Firemen fought desperately to stop the flames from spreading to the other nearby buildings.

Robbins, Greenhill Seek Positions in City Council

Three more aspirants for municipal offices obtained petitions of candidacy Monday afternoon and this morning from the Marion County Board of Elections.

William C. Greenhill, 28, of 650 Fair Park Ave. and John E. Robbins, 34, of 175 Madison Ave. both took out papers Monday afternoon. John S. Stuckey, 28, of 1171 E. Church St. obtained petitions this morning.

Mr. Greenhill said he will seek nomination as Republican councilman at large. A former Columbus newspaperman, he has been manager of public relations for the Whirlpool Corp. Marion Division since December 1955.

Mr. Robbins, a pipefitter for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., said he will file on the Democratic ticket for the First Ward council seat he now holds. He is completing his first term on council.

An attorney here since 1955, Mr. Stuckey took out papers for Republican nomination as city solicitor. He now is serving as assistant solicitor. Riley Hall, incumbent Republican solicitor, has announced he will not seek nomination to that post. Mr. Stuckey is associated with John K. Bartram in offices at 144½ E. Center St.

To date, six persons are circulating petitions for nomination at the May 5 primary, the board of elections said. Those who took out papers Monday morning were Mayor Wendell L. Strong, City Auditor Elmer Shaw and City

Succeeds Paul Kohler

Mrs. Roberts President Of Marion School Board

Mrs. Kenneth Roberts was elected president of the Marion City Board of Education Monday night, becoming the first woman to hold the post in 44 years here.

Immediate past vice president of the five-member board, she succeeded Paul W. Kohler.

She is believed to be the second woman in history to serve as board head. School records show that the late Mrs. Anna B. Whiting was board president for two years, in 1914 and 1915.

Elected to the vice presidency was Rodney S. Cox, currently serving his third term on the board.

The two new officers were sworn into office by Miss Vera Stull, clerk, during a special organizational session which preceded the monthly meeting.

Miss Stull was re-employed as board clerk for four years at an annual salary of $600. This is an increase of $150 over her previous salary. She had just completed a

Low Bids on Silver St. Sewer Under Estimates

Apparent low bids totaling $297,000 for the Silver St. sanitary trunk sewer project were opened at noon Monday by Safety-Service Director Howard W. Travis.

Now being checked by the city engineering department, the apparent low bid total is $16,000 under the $313,000 estimate of the city engineers.

The project is divided into three sections with Section 1 being the largest. It extends from Niles St. east to Leader St. Section 2 is from Leader to Oak and Section 3 is from Silver and Oak east to N. Prospect, south to George St. and east to N. State St.

Plumley - Contractors of, 840 Cheney Ave. submitted the apparent low bid for Section 1.

The low bid of $215,891 submitted by Plumley on Section 1 was well below the engineer's $240,000 estimate for this portion of the project but his $45,501 bid for Section 3 was over the $35,000 estimate of the city engineers.

Weott's low bid of $35,701 for Section 2 was about $2,300 under the engineer's estimate of $38,000 for this section of the project.

Engineering and incidental expenses will add another estimated $28,000 to the cost.

After the contracts are let on the Silver St. project, there will remain about $100,000 in the sewer bond money provided by the city's sewer service charge for improvement of sanitary sewers. A rough calculation by the city auditor's office today placed the present balance in the bond issue at between $400,000 and $425,000.

Still proposed to be built with the sewer bond money is the Davis St. relief sewer. It is estimated to cost $75,500. Plans already have been prepared for this project and necessary legislation has been adopted by council. The project now is being delayed pending

Ohio Convicts Volunteer for Cancer Study

50 Will Be Injected With 'Killed' Cells in Immunization Tests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fifty inmates of Ohio Penitentiary will be injected with "killed" cancer cells in an effort to immunize the prisoners to the dread disease.

The 50 will serve as human guinea pigs for the seventh phase of the long-term research being carried on at the penitentiary by scientists of Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research and Ohio State University. It is the only large-scale cancer research program in the nation using human volunteers.

Dr. Charles A. Doan, dean of the Ohio State medical school, said the inmates will be given the "killed" cells to stimulate the body's defense mechanism—much as smallpox vaccination stimulates the defense against the smallpox virus.

Then, three months later, the volunteers will be injected with live, untreated cancer cells in a test to see if the treated cells have produced a degree of immunity.

Father Brings His Daughter Back to Prison

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Mary Ann Gardner headed home to El Monte, Calif., after escaping the Idaho Penitentiary Dec. 28. Monday her father brought her back.

Al Gardner stayed only long enough to surrender his 21-year-old daughter to Warden L. E. Clapp. Then he, his wife and a grandmother started home.

Clapp said he suggested Gardner turn his daughter over to California officers when the father telephoned last weekend. "No, I'll take her back myself," he quoted Gardner. "We'll drive all night if necessary."

He described the father as "quite a forceful man on his ideas of right and wrong. There was only one thing in his mind and that was to bring her back."

Miss Gardner, serving a forgery term, fled with two other women inmates. One remains at large. El Monte is 900 miles from here.

Sandusky Women Reach Meeting by Chartered Plane

CLEVELAND (AP)—They had to charter a private airplane to do it, but two Sandusky women were on time Monday for their weekly session of a "great books" seminar in Cleveland Public Library.

In fact, Mrs. Moses Hurwitz and Mrs. Robert Cassidy arrived 10 minutes early. The program started at 10:30 a.m. with a film on renaissance art.

After the two women had decided the weather was too bad to drive the 60 miles from Sandusky, they learned to their dismay that there was no bus or train which would get them here on time.

To the rescue came Mrs. Hurwitz's husband. He offered to finance the plane trip. A third passenger shared the plane and the cost came to about $15 a person, Mrs. Hurwitz said.

The plane landed at Lakefront Airport, and a taxi sped them to the library about a mile away. They returned after the program by train.

Du Pont Co. Gives Fund to Wesleyan

DELAWARE — Ohio Wesleyan University is among the 139 colleges and universities across the nation which have been awarded grants totaling nearly $1,200,000 in the Du Pont Co.'s annual program of aid to education.

Company officials said today that the entire grant program is to be used for fundamental research and for strengthening the teaching of science and related liberal arts in the 1959-1960 academic year.

The amount of the grant to Ohio Wesleyan was not revealed.

Ohio State University received grants in several areas under the program. These were in chemistry and metallurgy, including the awarding of assistantships in both divisions.

Other Ohio colleges named as grant recipients were: College of Wooster, Western Reserve University, Oberlin College, Marietta College, Kenyon College and Antioch College.

Cuban Detained

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — The U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service plans further action against Cristobal Alvarado, 27, a Cuban national taken into custody with a load of arms and bullets destined for Castro rebel forces in his homeland. Keating Here Monday

Ohio Decent Literature Group's Head To Speak

Cincinnati attorney Charles H. Keating will give Marionites some ideas Monday on methods for ridding newsstands of objectionable literature.

Chairman of both the Cincinnati and Ohio citizens committee for decent literature, he will speak at the Lions Club noon meeting in Hotel Harding and again at a public meeting in the UAW-CIO Hall on Leader St. at 8 p.m.

He will appear here at the request of a group of local citizens, headed by Dr. Daniel Murphy, which was formed nearly a year ago to combat indecent literature in Marion. Dr. Murphy also serves on the executive committee of the Ohio CDL.

Mr. Keating will discuss the ill effects of objectionable literature, the scope of the problem and steps taken to combat it in Cincinnati. It is hoped his talk will generate more local interest in the decent literature movement, Dr. Murphy said.

To plant the seeds of such a movement, the local committee has organized a speakers bureau headed by Marion attorney Theodore P. Fredericks. Members have delivered a number of talks to civic groups in recent months.

Mr. Keating, 35, has spoken on the indecent literature problem in several communities since the formation of the Ohio CDL some five years ago.

A Navy fighter pilot during World War II, he was graduated from the University of Cincinnati with an LL.B. degree in 1948. A former national inter-collegiate swimming champion (breast stroke), he is married and has five children.

UPPER SANDUSKY — Uprooting 530 feet of fence and posts cost Frank Thompson, 26, of Forest $20 and costs Saturday in Upper Sandusky Municipal Court on a reckless operation charge filed by the Wyandot County sheriff's department.

The department's accident report said that Mr. Thompson's eastbound car failed to negotiate a curve three-tenths of a mile east of Forest about 3 a.m. Thursday and left the road striking a fence. The car returned to the road and proceeded down the highway pulling the 530 feet of fence behind it, according to the report.

Active in community affairs, he has served as fire chief, councilman and a member of the board of education. He served as director of the Ohio Council of Farm Co-operatives and as delegate and director of the National Council of Co-operatives.

34 Killed, 100 Hurt in Riots in Belgian Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—Thirty-four people are reported killed and about 100 seriously injured in two days of rioting in Leopoldville, the Belgian Congo capital.

Shops have been set on fire, Catholic missions ransacked, and schools and police headquarters burned out.

Europeans have been stoned and shot at and mission priests have been beaten by the rioting Africans.

Most of the dead were believed to be Africans shot by police or troops.

A state of siege has been proclaimed, and jeeps of troops armed with machineguns are patrolling the main avenue of the city's large African sector.

Barbed wire barricades have been set up. Firearms have been distributed to the European population.

Road blocks have been set up around the Leopoldville area.

Movement across the river from Brazzaville, in French Equatorial Africa, is stopped.

Troop reinforcements patrolling in armored cars and barbed wire roadblocks brought at least partial order. But the situation remained highly explosive because native leaders apparently had lost control of their followers.

The riots started Sunday with a political meeting of Congolese at which future independence for the Congo was mentioned. The crowd started shouting, "We want independence now."

The crowd burst out of the African area into the Avenue de Gaulle, a street of low buildings with shops selling goods for Africans. Most of the shops are run by Greeks and Portuguese. The Africans broke into the shops, ransacked them and set them on fire.

The riots were the worst since World War II. Several small riots have occurred lately, indicating unrest among the increasingly politically conscious natives.

He is a member of the Crawford County chapter of the National Foundation. He belongs to Holy Trinity Catholic Church and is affiliated with the Loyal Order of Moose at Bucyrus and with the North Robinson Grange. Mr. Sukup is assisted in campaign activities by his wife.

Announcement of the appointment was made today by Mrs. Clinton L. Gerstner of Galion, chairman of the Crawford County chapter.

In 1958 the chapter provided services for a total of 18 patients in Crawford County, three from Crestline, one from Sulphur

Spring, one from New Washington, seven from Bucyrus and six from Galion.

Silvers Debates When To Change

The old saw about not breaking up a winning combination requires alteration when the subject is television. Winning combinations manage to retain a durable quality in all fields but television, which is by nature a medium in high gear.

"I've always," added Silvers, "worked by the rule. 'when in doubt, do your best.'" Time will tell whether Sgt. Bilko's "best" will be good enough for another two years on TV — unless, that is, Silvers chooses to disagree with the advisers and turns in the khaki for good!

"Know when to break up a winning combination!" is the important thing in television, and it is a measure of comedian Phil Silvers' perspicacity that the thought occurs to him.

His intuition tells him that the time has come to discard Sgt. Bilko's Army barracks, which have been collecting dust almost four years, and replace them with an all-new setting and situation.

"I'd still be Bilko, but out of the Army," explains Silvers.

SUCH A CHANGE could infuse new vitality into the show, make it talked about, noted by the critics and put Silvers into orbit for another long stretch at the peak of television stardom.

That's not to say that Bilko and platoon are showing signs of raking decline at the moment. The show has been averaging a Trendex of 22.0, good for a Friday night, and all parties concerned — CBS, sponsor, agency representatives — are inclined to go along with the old thought that you don't break up a winning combination.

It's "safe" for TV executives to think that way. But mightily risky for Silvers. Viewers do tire of things familiar, according to TV history, and a drop of a few rating points could fire the executive pack to such declarations as "Silvers has had it."

It seems, however, that those around him are succeeding in convincing him that what's good to-day still will be good two years from now.

"Maybe they're right," says Silvers with a mixture of hope and uncertainty. "I always thought we could go this long with an Army show, but not longer. My hunches are normally pessimistic. However, they tell me I'm wrong and I'm ready to believe them. They say there's still about two years of life in the old format."

SHOULD the comedy prove an exception and maintain its lofty status with the same old Sgt. Bilko chicanery through the next couple of years it'll be because Bilko tried.

"My attitude toward the show has never relaxed — I don't know how to rest on my laurels, if you know what I mean," remarked the comedian, whose restlessness takes him to Europe this summer for the filming of half a dozen episodes, one of which may include the highly respected British actor, Alec Guinness.

"I've always," added Silvers, "worked by the rule. 'when in doubt, do your best.'" Time will tell whether Sgt. Bilko's "best" will be good enough for another two years on TV — unless, that is, Silvers chooses to disagree with the advisers and turns in the khaki for good!

TAKING 220,000 written requests into account, Ed Sullivan scheduled a re-run of his memorable Moiseyev Ballet presentation Feb. 1.

Bing Crosby has his sponsor's assurance that no important shots will be interrupted for commercial purposes during the "Bing Crosby Golf Tournament" from Pebble Beach Jan. 18 on ABC. The commercials will run when the action is routine — a practice which ought to go a long way toward not straining the patience of viewers.

The all-time theater classic, "Berkley Square," will be aired Feb. 5 on "Hallmark Hall of Fame," a qualitative series which regrettably has a penchant for adaptations, rather than originals.

Dinah Shore's name turned up in the Gallup Poll which asked: "What woman that you have heard or read about, living today in any part of the world, do you admire the most?" The top 10 included Eleanor Roosevelt, Queen Elizabeth, Mamie Eisenhower, Marian Anderson and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

Fills Council Vacancy

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Walter G. McCrae, a steelworker, was chosen to fill a city council vacancy Monday night in the ninth ward, although the Stark County Democratic party executive committee had recommended Ceylon M. Crowl, a real estate agent, for the post. Elected to a second vacancy left by the resignation of two newly elected members of the Ohio general assembly was Jerry Hon-las, an attorney, who had the Democratic executive committee endorsement for councilman at-large. The lineup of 12 Democrats and three Republicans on the council is unchanged.

Woman Convicted

CINCINNATI (AP)—Judge Carson Hoy Monday convicted Mrs. Austin Dow, 46, of first degree manslaughter in the killing death of Samuel Hudson, 46, at the home where both lived. The criminal court judge sentenced 1-20 years in Marysville Reformatory on the conviction. Mrs. Dow contended she acted in self-defense last Aug. 8 after a quarrel.

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — City Council approved salary increases for city workers Monday night — 11 cents an hour for hourly-paid employees and $20 monthly for salaried workers — effective Feb. 7. The council also agreed to increase differential payments ranging from four to ten cents hourly for police officers for off-duty time spent in court, instead of giving compensating time off.

Fights Deportation

CLEVELAND (AP) — The U. S. district commissioner of immigration here, John M. Lehmann, has set next Monday to hear an appeal from Mrs. Nina Caldarevic, 21-year-old Yugoslav divorcee, who seeks to avoid deportation. Mrs. Caldarevic came here in August, 1967, to visit her parents and brought her infant son, Dudo, with her. Shortly before the birth of a second child, Marna, now 9 months old, she refused to return to Yugoslavia with her husband. After he had gone back to Zagreb without her, she said, he divorced her.

Major Changes Loom in Council

The current Marion City Council has been one of the best in recent Marion history, but apparently it is to have a short-lived career.

On the first survey of the outlook for this municipal election year two of the three councilmen-at-large, Richard Lister (R) and Thomas Fetter (D), have announced they will not be candidates for re-election. The third councilman-at-large, Harold Smith (D), may take himself out of the council picture by filing for mayor.

The leadership of council traditionally comes from the at-large positions, plus the president, and Mr. Lister, Mr. Fetter and

Mr. Smith certainly have measured up to their responsibilities.

With a year remaining of the term it is a trifle early to launch into a lengthy eulogy on departing office holders.

Nevertheless, the two councilmen who have announced they definitely will not return will be badly missed.

Well-qualified and interested candidates for council always are needed if the proper standards of municipal government are to be maintained.

It begins to look like the need will be unusually great in Marion in 1959.

There Finally Comes a Time

Whether you think of the Soviet Union's newest and most spectacular demonstration of missile mastery as a triumph of pure science or a demonstration of military power — or a great deal of each — there is nothing anyone can say to detract from its success.

There finally comes a time when there is nothing left to say. The United States brought about that kind of a vacuum of comment when it developed the first nuclear bombs.

It had experienced an absolute triumph. Nothing anyone could say would have any effect on what it had done.

The Soviet Union clearly holds such a commanding lead in missile mastery that the United States can do nothing but defer to its superiority and work as hard as it knows how to catch up. It is a form of competition this country did not choose and in which it has been handicapped by the absence of a powerful compulsion "to do or die."

But if it is to be the shape of things in the future that nations must compete with one another in the development of rockets capable of spanning an ocean with a nuclear warhead, or carrying scientific instruments and ultimately human beings into space, the United States will acquire itself creditably.

This is now the armament race. Battleships, armies, airplanes and guns are going to be made obsolete by guided missiles. Competition for power on the earth will be carried on simultaneously with competition for power in space, which in turn will have direct bearing on power in earth.

The Soviet Union has a commanding lead. The United States recently took pride in the fact the second Atlas successfully launched by the Air Force went into orbit. The pride was justifiable, but not on the grounds that the Atlas was bigger than Sputnik III.

The size of the Atlas could not properly be compared with Sputnik III, which represented a payload of 2,919 pounds, against the smaller payload of about 150 pounds carried into orbit by the Atlas.

The Soviet Union's sun-circling "planet" is more than a third heavier than Sputnik III. This is the challenge of the Soviet Union's tremendous lead in missiles — a lead so commanding there is no immediate prospect of shortening it.

Not even the hysteria that immediately broke loose in Washington will have the slightest effect. Nor a billion billion dollars, which will be proposed. Nothing but a tireless effort over the long pull to prove what Americans have been proving ever since cars, despoils and kings of yesteryear tried to prove the contrary — that free men can survive and surpass by virtue of their freedom.

On a Demonstration by Hoffa

It will be important in 1959 to remember that James R. Hoffa, symbol of the Teamsters Union, has landed in the middle of something even bigger than he thinks he is as leader of the country's biggest union.

Before Hoffa it was Dave Beck who was the symbol. And before Beck the symbol was Daniel J. Tobin. The peculiar strength of the Teamsters Union, though it has been developed systematically and ruthlessly by a succession of strong men, is derived from its power to slow down the motion of the national economy. The union's strength has been multiplied by an increasing rate of motion and increasing dependency on motion in general.

It is small wonder that Tobin, Beck and now Hoffa have been notorious for ruthlessness in tactics; they were exposed to extraordinary temptation by the potentialities of their power. Years ago, when railroads were more powerful than they are now, in competition with trucks, airplanes and passenger automobiles, their susceptibility to ruthless union leadership was modified by the Railway Labor Act.

This is the prospect that looms ahead as the Teamsters make known the terms on which they may be willing to let the United States exist, if it will accommodate itself to their views on mass unionism. Each ultimatum, each overt move, each inconvenience to the public brings closer the showdown between the sovereign people and the militant minority that is demonstrating its power.

The people were patient with the trusts and monopolies that preyed on them in the 19th century. They have been patient with the unions that are preying on them in the 20th century. They have let themselves be pushed around and poked in the eye by muscle-men in the belief that this was necessary to protect the rights of workers.

But it always has been the history of power that it runs itself into the ground if it goes unchecked. This is the fateful time for power in the hands of a symbolic Hoffa.

One of his agents has announced that on Jan. 12 Teamsters pickets will begin to teach the police commissioner of New York City a lesson by isolating him and his staff in police headquarters. They will demonstrate that they are more powerful than the entire police force of the largest city in the United States.

That should clear up any lingering doubts about the potentialities of the Teamsters Union if it cannot be made answerable to the sovereign people who have made its existence and its massive power possible.

And what is the lesson? The New York City police commissioner is going to be taught? Simply this: No one, not even a police commissioner, can keep the Teamsters Union from organizing and dominating policemen and other public employees anywhere in the United States.

You Did a Fine Job, Slowpoke

Before throwing out the holly and the holidays, there is an acknowledgment some of us would like to make.

We appreciate the automobile driver who got through Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year in his customary safe and sane manner. He was duly impressed with all the scare stories about the drunken fools and other internal combustion cowboys who would make a shambles of auto traffic. But he was not overly impressed, because he knew the fools and the cowboys would not mend their ways, and he knew it would be his responsibility to take care of himself, the same as he aims to do 365 days a year.

He would drive as if murderers were stalking him. He would take no chances on speed, unless he happened to be driving on a speedway. He would not drink and drive, unless the two operations were safely separated from each other in time and space. He would give himself the advantage of every doubt, in the hope of a long life for himself, his passengers and his fellowmen.

This is for you, Slowpoke. Congratulations on making it safely through another year. No one ever praises you, but you and yours are the main line of highway defense. Bad drivers, like juvenile delinquents, are only a tiny fraction, but they get all the attention. No one spares a hand to put good drivers on the head.

This is for you, Slowpoke. Maybe you never peeped out at an intersection, passed on a hill or a curve, or made anyone's eyes bug with your speed, but you're still alive. And your chances are getting better all the time, thanks to the way you are developing more skill in the art of staying alive though driving.

The Once Over

Early January medical report on the family situation 10 days or more after Christmas:

Dad — He is recovering slowly and will be up and about soon. The surgeons got Junior's Super Moon-Missile out of his kidney, excepting for one fin. (The doctors believe a kidney with a fin in it is not too bad under modern conditions.)

Mom — She is out of bandages. Only a moderate amount of plastic surgery will be needed to put her in the shape she was in before the old homestead became "Home, Sweet Canaveral." A toy rocket went completely through her thigh. The doctors wanted to repair the injury but mom insisted it would probably happen again next Christmas.

Aunt Minerva — She has not been located. She grabbed hold of Little Willie's department store satellite as it went through the roof and forgot to let go. She is the determined type, stubborn about admitting a mistake.

Uncle Finney — He was found eight days after Christmas in a hole dug with his own hands in solid cement. He was a quivering, shattered wreck through being caught in a crossfire between 6-year-old Sidney's trans-neighborhood Super-Sonic Rocket and 7-year-old Jennifer's Outer Space Rocket, operating from her Doll House Missile Fleet. Uncle took a countdown on himself and sailed into space. He was not wholly burned up in the fall back to earth, which proves modern man can survive anything but auto traffic.

Grannie Winklehouse — She took flight during the initial fireside satellite experiments. Six days later she was reported seen 10 miles away, headed back to the children's rocket base. Somebody said "Merry Christmas" and it frightened her back into the forest primeval.

Right Under His Nose

Unpopular Strikes

The American people are unhappy about the strikes that have been depriving them of essential services. Members of Congress are hearing from the country about it.

Just what can be done? The right to strike has long been considered inherent in our constitutional system because the individual has the right to work or to quit work as he pleases. But where the public interest is damaged, the law can properly step in and restrict the right of any organized group to act concertedly in preventing others from working.

Thus, for example, there is no right to strike against the government itself, whether it be federal or state or city government. Nobody can be required to work for the government.

Actually, when the government seizes an industry, no union may tell its members not to work. To do so constitutes an interference with the court orders usually issued at the request of governmental authorities.

THE REMEDY heretofore applied has been government seizure of an essential industry. But this has never proved a satisfactory solution. It has in its elements of coercion, distasteful to a free society.

For years, students of the problem have examined a variety of proposed solutions.

The Taft-Hartley Act today provides for a no-strike moratorium for 90 days during a so-called "cooling-off" period. But a politically minded President can ignore it rather than antagonize those labor leaders who supported him in his election campaign. So it is not desirable to make any solution dependent upon presidential discretion. Likewise, because it is known that after 90 days the same situation will arise as before, the tendency is to wait out the period and go to the fight again.

In wartime, there have been laws providing for seizure when a serious strike is threatened.

Seizure as a last resort is probably one answer, even in peacetime, to a deadlock. But there have been other suggestions from labor experts in the last half century that have never been given a trial and which would seem to promise better results.

Thus, the idea of mandatory arbitration, if no agreement is reached during a fixed period of negotiation, has always been given moral support by disinterested observers.

THE LABOR UNIONS have not liked this approach because they have believed it legitimate and that the decisions are not likely to penetrate the human questions that frequently give rise to deadlocks in negotiations — matters of holidays and pensions and other "fringe" benefits.

Employers, on the other hand, have feared that arbitrators would ignore the financial capacity of a smaller company competing with a larger one, or else that too much power would be given the neutral arbitrator because, as a rule, each side picks an arbitrator and the two select a third, who is supposed to be neutral.

Arbitrators selected for a single task like this are often plagued by the after-effects of their decisions.

The economic losses to the country from recent strikes were staggering. The amount gained by the unions is infinitesimal compared to the indirect losses they have suffered.

Also, as public opinion becomes irritated and antagonized by frequent strikes, the whole cause of self-organization may be impaired by hostile legislation.

By David Lawrence

Governmental authority today fixes the rates to be charged to customers by public utilities.

But no public body fixes the wages that may be charged which can force those rates upward.

The same principle applies to the non-utility businesses. The government fixes the percentage of profit left to a business after taxes, but says nothing when the company's expenses are forced upward by higher payrolls that diminish the government's total receipts and also perhaps force the employer into the red, with no tax revenues for the government at all.

The "public interest" in labor disputes is far-reaching. Some day real statesmanship will have to be displayed in Congress to find a solution that is fair to the worker and to the employer and to the public, which the government represents.

Making and Breaking

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK America's leading manufacturing industry at this time of year is the making and breaking-of resolutions.

Children, just before Christmas, are as good as they can be. But most adults wait until New Year's to start their reform waves. As soon as Santa Claus disappears over the horizon, children start acting worse, and their parents start acting better. At least their male parents do. For that is an odd thing about the making of new year resolutions—it is pretty much of a masculine delusion. The thought that her conduct might need a yearly overhaul is unthinkable to the average strong-minded woman.

BUT THIS is a rough time for a wife just the same. It is hard for the lady of the house to adjust to the master of the house when he ceases to regard himself as one of nature's noblemen and decides, he is, in fact, pretty much of a bum.

"Yop, that's all I am, just a bum," he tells himself in self-pity. "And not even a good bum. I'm a bum bum. I don't see how you've put up with me all these years."

Listening to this is pretty painful to a wife. But even more painful is having to put up with her abject hero during the halo-wearing period that follows.

He is going to do so many things to improve himself and lead a better life. He is going to give up smoking and drinking and poker playing. He is going to quit borrowing money and start living within his means. He is going to concentrate on his own work and quit telling the boss how to run the office. He is going to be kinder to the children and help his wife more with her household chores.

Yes, he is going to improve himself in a hundred ways. And for a while he does.

His strange, martyr-like behavior is unbecoming to all around him—friends, enemies, wife and children. Even the family dog wonders what came over him.

MOTHER IS KIND of worried, too. In the week since father insisted on lending her a hand in the kitchen he has burned himself twice, broken four plates and a cup, and thrown out three pieces of silverware in the garbage.

But by the end of the second week at most father himself tires of a self-imposed code that would bore an angel in heaven. As his rise to virtue was dramatic, so is his fall.

There comes a morning when he refuses to leap out of bed and do deep knee bends. He has two pieces of toast again, his old quota, instead of one.

THAT NIGHT when he returns from work he mixes himself a martini, lights up a cigar, kicks the dog off the sofa, and lets down himself. He tells Junior to do his own homework and quit looking to him for help. He informs his wife: "Don't ask me to take you any place tomorrow night because I ain't. I'm playing poker."

The tension that has gripped the house for two weeks immediately disappears. Mother and Junior look at each other and smile. Even the dog grins.

Three Predictions

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON Three predictions about the new Congress seem safe: It will be more liberal-minded than its predecessor; a big fight among Democrats is unlikely; the split among Republicans will probably continue.

These predictions have their roots in the November elections where the voters, showing distaste for Republican conservatives, gave the Democrats overwhelming majorities in House and Senate.

A look at the score-card tells the story. Last year Democrats outnumbered Republicans in the House 235-200, this year 283-163. Last year Democrats outnumbered Senate Republicans by a paper-thin 49-47; this year 64-34.

NOW A BLOC of liberal Senate Republicans, interpreting the election as a demand for more progressive Republicanism, are trying to take over the leadership from a band of Republican conservatives.

They may lose. But, having declared themselves, they can hardly line up on the conservative side for the rest of 1959.

The fight that broke out Monday among House Republicans over their leadership is of a different kind, looks more like a power struggle. Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana wants to unseat Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, with whom he worked hand-in-glove for years. Both are conservatives.

THE WOUNDS inflicted in such an intraparty fight are not the kind to heal fast.

The Democrats, of course, will have some troubles among themselves. Among them, a bloc of Northern Democrats will fight Southern Democrats over making it easier to smash a Senate filibuster. This isn't strictly intraparty. Some Republicans will line up with Southern Democrats, some with the Northern Democrats. The elections gave the Democrats an infusion of new blood in both houses. This is bound to have an effect on the two Democratic Texans who head the two houses; Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson. They also tend to be conservative.

RAYBURN AND JOHNSON are both conscious of the implications in their last election and the more Democrats they have to deal with the more concessions they will have to make to line up solid Democratic support.

Rayburn and Johnson are both master politicians. They have probably had no superiors in this century in congressional leadership. Probably none has been more influential in getting what he wanted done.

Rayburn was supposed to have faced a fight from liberal House Democrats over the House Rules Committee which has been a traditional citadel for Southern Democrats and conservative Republicans.

This committee, under House rules, has been able to bottle up legislation its members didn't like. There was supposed to have been a fight to break this committee's power. Now Rayburn reportedly has put out the fire before it started.

IN THE SENATE Johnson has been a magician in getting fellow Democrats to work with him. He has to make concessions and grant favors to get cooperation. You can be sure he's doing the same with the new Democrats already.

Nevertheless, just because he has to make concessions, Johnson will be under pressure from the newcomers and the more liberal-minded Democrats to steer away from a too-conservative course. He saw what happened to the Republicans.

The Pileup Rate

By Truman Twill

Desk work, as we swallow specimens who move about like wreaths under fluorescent lights can testify, is simple, once you get the hang of it.

Management merely asks you to keep a certain amount of order on a flat plane approximately 15 feet square. It is like being a hot-house instead of a cart.

The only trick is how to balance the pass-on rate with the pileup rate. And for this, management pays money. It is easy — once you get the hang of it.

But getting the hang of it is not easy at all. It is as hard as learning how to be a steel rigger and walk a 10-inch girder a thousand feet in the air without going into a tailspin.

But there are two trade secrets worth passing on at the dawn of another new year when desk workers worth their paper clips are starting with clean desk tops.

One is the quid-pro-quo technique: For every bit of clutter dumped on your desk by some inconsiderate chump who didn't know what else to do with it, pass on a bit of clutter to someone else.

The other is the brushoff gambit: When it is impossible to decide what to do with a piece of paper that is too good for wastepaper and not good enough to file, place same on edge of desk, brush it off with a careless gesture of the arm and let it be.

The logic in both cases is the same. In the era of paper-shuffling, there is nothing of any real importance, except to keep the paper in motion. The paper, itself, has no value.

Everybody lives in dread of a slowdown in its rate of motion, which would indicate that someone was not on his toes and too preoccupied with something else to open his mail and keep abreast of his memos. There would be an investigation and a culprit.

So keep the paper moving! Read and pass on! File and forget! Process and peruse! Scribble a marginal note to show the world you're thinking.

Underscore a trenchant passage! Put a crisp check mark in the margin to direct attention to the meat of the message! Direct the attention of J. B. or W. R. to some remark that will show how great minds get together on great truths!

Make a 200-word digest! Order 50 copies made on the copying machine! Give cryptic instructions to someone further along the line to save the thing for future reference!

Or pull the wastebasket up close for the brushoff gambit. Take some old junk out of the file and throw it away to make room for some new junk. A clean desk is the sign of a clean mind.

That is all there is to desk work, and every old-timer in the racket wishes a happy new year to every newcomer.

The wastebasket, at this time of the year, is filled to overflowing by noon every day. The desk workers are starting the new year right.

Hoffa Sees Police Union Moves as 'Advertising'

By VICTOR RIESEL

The inside story of Jim Hoffa's drive to unionize the nation's police is that there is no real drive to unionize the police; there will be no drive to unionize police, and like that old British press agent, W. S. Shakespear, once wrote — "the play's the thing." Hoffa's stakes are being played for a lot more than a few, if any, headachy police locals around the country.

Fact is, it was not Hoffa's idea at all to launch the "sweeping" campaign to sign up the cops. The besieged, bantam Teamster chief was not even really interested in attempting to unionize state, county and municipal workers. Twice in the past six months, he waved the idea away.

Then two of his New York aides sold it to him. They were New York's Teamster proconsul, John O'Rourke, and his buddy, Henry Feinstein, leader of some 8,000 assorted hospital and city workers. Jimmy finally said "O.K.," and when someone asked if this would include police, Jimmy said, "Sure, why not?" There were those within the iron circle said, "You're nuts." And Jimmy answered, "This is not so nuts. It pays to advertise."

THAT'S EXACTLY what this "police drive" is — regardless of the tumult. It's Teamster advertising. They're not afraid to tackle anybody, is what this all says.

After the bawling is over, the Teamsters will turn to the 1½ million non-unionized state, county and municipal workers in 1,000 communities and say, in effect, look at how we startled all the city fathers everywhere. Now you can see what we can do for you.

If this convinces half a million such civil service employees, it will be a handsome profit on just a few mimeographed news releases.

Not only will Hoffa's lieutenants go after civil servants but they'll go after taxi drivers, too. In New York City, there are some 80,000 hackies alone. At a buck a week apiece in dues such a new Teamsters local would take in over 1½ million dollars a year. That would make it a mighty powerful industrial and political unit.

To get to the inside story of this Gotterdammerung, you've got to know a little about Hoffa's local boy, Henry Feinstein, a $10,000-a-year car and truck dispatcher in the office of the Manhattan Borough president.

Feinstein is bright, sharp, ambitious and about to retire from New York City's employ. He'll be this side of 55 and has no intention of getting out of the Teamsters or staying inside Manhattan. He wants to be one of the Teamster national leaders — and like Jim Hoffa has surrounded himself with young intellectuals who can give Madison Ave. a gray flannel mouth when it comes to press agency.

They know that a man is known by the enemies he keeps. So Feinstein decided to go out and make some mighty important enemies.

HE DID. They denounced him. Overnight he became what he wanted, one of the most prominent names in Teamster circles, where prominence is generally linked with police records not police unions.

Brother Feinstein wants to become the chief of one of what the Teamsters call "National Trade Divisions." There are 15 of these. Most of them have a national office and paid national officials. They cover a complete field from coast to coast, such as milk or bread deliveries or warehousing.

It has no central office and no paid officials. Now the light should come through. Feinstein wants to be the paid national chief and set up a permanent central office. Thus he can launch national civil service employees union drives.

This he will build on the relatively few Teamsters municipal locals of city truck drivers, garbage collectors and park-leaf carters. He will go after hospital workers, city clerical employees and all the other white collar people in the housing and port authority type of city offices.

Wherever he goes, Brother Feinstein will be press agent as the man who "could really have unionized police but let it go because it's really against the law."

Like Jimmy Hoffa says, "It pays to advertise."

Salk Favors Fourth Polio 'Booster' Shot

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Dr. Jonas Salk, who developed the anti-polio vaccine that bears his name, today recommended a fourth shot to increase immunization against crippling infantile paralysis.

But Dr. Gordon Brown, a University of Michigan scientist, said that while a fourth dose undoubtedly would be beneficial to many "what is most needed is complete (three-shot) immunization of the larger number" who have as yet had no vaccine at all.

The president of the American Medical Assn., Dr. Gunnar Gunderson, declared "there is no time to lose" in the two-shot plus-booster campaign; that partial immunization is not enough and that doctors must see that the unimmunized, the indigent and the complacent are vaccinated.

And Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., on whose 1955 findings Salk's vaccine was accepted as "safe, potent and effective" suggested from the same platform today that Americans be made to comply with a code of health, just as they must with housing, electrical and plumbing codes.

All four appeared on a symposium sponsored by the University of Michigan School of Public Health in connection with the kick-off of the National Polio Foundation's 1959 March of Dimes campaign to raise 65 million dollars to combat arthritis and birth defects, as well as polio.

NO ELEMENT OF CHANCE

"Calculated risk" seems to be a popular phrase for old-fashioned "gamble." But there's no place for either in preparing or dispensing pharmaceuticals.

Ever notice the letters U.S.P. or N.F. on a medicine label? The letters represent two official books that are recognized by federal law — the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary.

Together, they are the pharmacist's "bible." They give approved standards of the quality, purity, and potency of most medicinal agents.

Village Council News

The first meetings of the year were held Monday night by five village councils in Marion County. At New Bloomington only routine business was conducted. Reports of the other meetings follow.

—Green Camp—

An option for the use of the village dump site was renewed for the next 10 years when the Green Camp Council met Monday night. Representatives from a Cincinnati firm were present to discuss the possibility of establishing a municipal water and sewage system in the village. Village officials said the discussion was merely for their own information and indicated no action on such a move is contemplated at this time.

The appropriation ordinance was passed with the major share of the money to be used for street maintenance.

—Waldo—

Waldo Village Council Monday night voted to abandon use of the chemical trailer on the fire engine. The action was taken after the fire fighting and equipment committee, which met Jan. 2, reported that it recommended the action. Members of the committee said abandonment of the trailer would make it possible to use the hose and hose reels on the tanker fire truck.

—LaRue—

The village's permit to discharge sewage into the Scioto River was renewed for the coming year, the LaRue Village Council was informed at its meeting Monday night. A discussion was held on the sewage disposal question and the remainder of the meeting devoted to routine business.

—Prospect—

Two new council members were sworn into office at the Monday night meeting of the Prospect Village Council. They were Ray Stiffler and Carl Oehler. Dale Bachelder was elected president for the coming year. Bernard T. Moloney of the law firm of Moloney and Kelly was hired as the village solicitor for the coming year.

Mayor Harry Reynolds made appointments to the street, finance, utility, building, fire and special services committees and announced several projects to be carried on during the coming year.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't tell me my story is so old I can put it to music and dance to it. (You see I've been reading you closely!) I don't want advice designed for someone else. I am me and I need special help.

I've been married once (age 17) and it lasted two horrible years. Now I'm 33, older and wiser, and I have my eye on a bachelor. The trouble is, just when I think I've got him some friend pops up and a business deal and he suddenly finds himself "too broke for marriage."

The guy is 42, handsome, fascinating, romantic and he says he loves me. He has gone for phony all stocks, a new carbonated drink and last July he bought part of a rock quarry that belonged to the state of Wisconsin.

I have invested four years of my time on this guy and don't want to quit too soon. What is your honest opinion? If you can suggest something constructive I would be grateful. — CHA CHA CHA.

Dear Cha Cha Cha (You're dancing?): The gentleman isn't 42 and a bachelor for nothing. If he's actually getting involved in business deals perhaps he is unconsciously keeping himself broke as protection against marriage.

Let him have 60 days in which to marry you or give up the ghost for good. If he fails for another pie-in-the-sky deal tell him it's been ice and goodbye.

Stutterer Needs Help
Dear Ann: Our 5-year-old son stutters badly and it's beginning to worry me. I hoped he'd outgrow it but it seems to be getting worse instead of better.

My husband becomes impatient with the boy, ridicules him and gets him so worked up he cries. When my mother is present and the child stutters she makes him stop and start over again and repeat each word slowly. She says this will help but I'm afraid she's wrong. How seldom she speaks in her presence.

Please give me some help with my boy if you can. Our two older children never had this problem and I am at a loss. — DORA.

Dear Dora: Stuttering is a symptom of other problems and should be handled with patience and understanding. Your husband is cruel to make fun of the child. Insist that he stop it at once. (This man is an adult!)

The stuttering child should not be made to repeat himself. This only makes him more self-conscious. Check with a college or university in your area and learn if there are any corrective speech classes. Check also on private clinics. The stutterer needs special help and I hope your child gets it.

Kidding Herself

Dear Ann: A certain woman I play cards with thinks she is putting one over. I went to school with her in Wichita Falls, Tex., and I know her birthday is the same week as mine. I was born in 1917 and so was she. This makes us both 41 years old.

It makes me boil when I hear her tell people she is "as old as Jack Benny." This means she's trying to get by as 39.

Should I embarrass her to her face the next time she pulls this? All I need is one word of encouragement from you. — NETTIE.

The next time she says she's as old as Jack Benny why not tell her she doesn't look 63.

If people who fib about their age know how little others care they'd save themselves the time and energy.

One wise old duck made this statement: "The years women subtract from their ages are not lost. They add them to the ages of other women."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ronald Long was re-elected president of the board and John Gray was named vice president. Donald Hickman was re-employed as clerk-treasurer. The first Monday of each month was retained as the board's regular meeting date.

The group voted to renew its membership in the Ohio School Board Association.

Supt. Clyde Forry gave a report of the trip he made with four elementary teachers Monday, Dec. 29, to view several new elementary facilities in Ohio. The trip was made to let the teachers decide what facilities they think should be included in the six new elementary classrooms which are to be built at Prospect.

Making the trip with Mr. Forry were Mrs. Ola Uncapher and Mrs. Mary Lloyd, first grade teachers; Miss Helen Donnelly, second grade instructor, and Mrs. Mildred McNeal, third grade teacher. The group visited two schools in Marion County and one each in Union County, Crawford County, Bowling Green and Perryville.

The board approved the purchase of 10 violins for the instrumental music department. The instruments will be rented to students in the fourth grade with the aim to eventually develop a string section and a school orchestra.

A report was read from the Industrial Commission of Ohio on the need for an exhaust fan in the welding area of the shop building. Steps are being taken to remedy the situation.

The board spent some time discussing the school survey reports and decided to hold up any decision on the matter until after its meeting with the county board later this month.

Claridon

The Claridon Board of Education Monday night elected Francis Fairchild of near Claridon as president for 1959. Vice president last year, he succeeds Howard Mitchell.

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

Drivers escaped injury in both one-car accidents reported in the county today by state patrolmen.

An east bound auto driven by Donald L. McCombs, 40, of 158 W. Walnut St. was considerably damaged when it skidded out of control on a curve along Rt. 95 at its intersection with County Rd. 37 two miles east of LaRue.

Patrolmen said the vehicle slid off the highway and struck a bridge marker before coming to rest in a ditch at 8:45 p.m. Monday.

The second mishap occurred on Rt. 30-S, one mile east of Marion, when the left front wheel of a west-bound auto driven by Harvey Napier, 34, of Caledonia, dropped off, sending the car out of control. Officers said the car struck the guy wire of a power pole, considerably damaging the vehicle. The accident occurred at 5:20 p.m. Monday.

Three Mishaps in City

30 Are Killed, 100 Injured by Turkish Blast

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) —

Thirty persons were believed killed and 100 seriously injured in a thunderous explosion this morning that shattered two crowded four-story office buildings in old central Istanbul.

Three of the dead were passengers in a bus which was passing and was crushed by the debris.

Another four died in a coffee shop across the narrow street from the blast.

Among the tenants in the buildings were the newspapers Istanbul Ekspres and Yeni Gazete. One of the building owners said the explosion appeared to come from a warehouse in the rear in which chemicals and other inflammable goods were stored.

One of the two buildings was completely crumbled. The other, housing the newspapers, looked as if its back end had been sliced away.

The explosion occurred at the height of a mid-morning traffic. Police cordoned off the area and diverted all traffic. Ninety minutes later victims still were being dug from the debris.

Windows were shattered and the streets covered with glass for several blocks in all directions.

Battle To Oust Martin From Leadership Splits House GOP

Rep. Halleck Set To Press Bid for Post

Veteran Massachusetts Legislator Challenged After 20 Years in Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican House leaders made an 11th hour compromise offer to young GOP insurgents today to share party leadership responsibilities in the chamber.

The offer, expected to be rejected, was proposed to head off a direct challenge to the reign of Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, GOP floor leader for 20 years.

The proposal had an initial cool reception from the group backing Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana to replace the 74-year-old Martin as GOP floor leader.

Under the proposed compromise a new post of assistant floor leader would be created.

It also provides for election by the full 153 Republican House membership of the chairman of the Republican House Policy Committee. Heretofore Martin has held that post along with his leadership responsibilities.

The proposal will be offered for a vote of the Republican conference this afternoon when House Republicans will choose their leaders for the new 86th Congress convening Wednesday.

Its defeat would open the way for the election of the 58-year-old Halleck to the leadership post.

Halleck formally announced his candidacy Monday night in opposition to Martin. His move followed a group which contends younger and more aggressive leadership is needed to combat the overwhelming Democratic majority in the new House.

Democrats, also causing today, faced no open battles. They were expected without incident to pick Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), 77 today, for another term as speaker of the House and to return Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass.), 67, to the Democratic leadership post.

"We have nothing to worry about in our caucus," Rayburn told newsmen.

Kaelaer told patrolmen he attempted to stop behind a commercial bus when the auto swerved out of control.

The house formally elected Rep. James A. Lantz (pronounced Lantz) of Lancaster as speaker, veteran Rep. Jesse Yoder of Dayton as majority leader and former Rep. Arthur H. Milleson of Freeport as clerk.

Minority leaders in the two houses are Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) and Rep. Roger Cloud (R-Logan). They were senate majority leader and house speaker, respectively, in the last two sessions of a Republican-dominated legislature.

The 103rd General Assembly already has recorded a couple of firsts:

1. The house for the first time in 119 years has a former governor on its roster—former Lt. Gov. John W. Brown (R-Medina) who served 11 days as interim governor in early 1957.

2. The house has its first 11-term member, Rep. Clifton L. Caryl (R-Union). A resolution sponsored by Cloud officially tabbed him the dean of the house.

Cuba

business carried on largely by American interests.

Some elements of confusion remained in the government setup that probably will be clarified when Castro arrives. The only framework of government in the first few days after Batista's fall was provided by radio announcements from the rebel leader in Santiago, at the other end of Cuba.

Havana generally was returning to normal. Businesses were open again and services were restored after the general strike Castro called to consolidate support for Urrutia.

Swift military trials were promised for more than 1,000 persons jailed since the rebels took power. Cheering crowds meanwhile greeted Castro in every town along his slow march from Oriente province. No matter how small the gathering, he stopped for an impassioned speech on his plans for Cuba. In Camaguey he spoke for three hours before his voice grew hoarse.

Castro was escorted by planes, tanks, jeeps and other military equipment which, he told the people, had been sent to attack him. "They are the same tanks but now they belong to the people," he said.

Among the Castro supporters who came to the surface was movie hero Errol Flynn, who said he spent the last week of the revolt ducking bullets with the rebel forces.

The 50-year-old actor didn't duck all the way behind a post in a sugar mill battle and was nicked in the right leg, he told reporters in Havana.

Local Firm's Employees Attend Training Event

Twenty-five employees and district dealers of the Marion Supply Co. attended a training session at Hotel Harding Monday afternoon, featuring illustration of the newest developments in jet-type pumps and water systems.

Guest speakers were Ray Moor, regional sales manager of the F. E. Myers and Bros. Co. of Ashland, and W. L. Patton, territorial representative for the company.

The meeting concluded with dinner at the hotel and presentation of attendance plaques to some 20 dealers from Marion and the area by L. L. Johnston Jr., sales manager of Marion Supply.

Mr. Moor spoke briefly on the new development of the pumps and Mr. Patton presented the complete production story as well as training employees in installation and selling of the products.

Unsigned Note Spurs Search For Kidnap

Message Discovered Pinned to Diaper in Coney Island Section

NEW YORK (AP) — A wide-spread search for a kidnaped infant has shifted to Coney Island after a note with a foreboding message was found pinned to a diaper in a subway station there.

The unsigned note, found Monday in the women's room of the station, read:

"Please return to St. Peter's Hospital. Didn't want to hurt anyone. Everything is so hard. Tired. Sick. The ocean is so inviting. Maybe now I will find peace. I tried to keep her warm. Dear God forgive me."

Scene of Kidnaping

St. Peter's is the hospital miles away in downtown Brooklyn where the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chionchio was kidnaped Friday night, only 2½ hours after birth.

Police were aware the note might be the work of a crank, but hoped it might provide some lead to the baby's whereabouts.

Except for the note, the search remained fruitless.

It was difficult to determine if the note-bearing diaper had clothed the Chionchio child.

When some of the baby's garments were found in a vacant store in Brooklyn Saturday, a diaper was not among them.

Believed Frustrated Mother

Police are convinced the abductor is a frustrated mother. They are checking hospital records for the names of women whose children died at birth.

The kidnaper is believed to be a heavy-set blonde, between 30 and 35, who was seen at the hospital Friday night.

Police watched for two women fitting the description whose backgrounds single them out.

One is a New York City woman missing since Thursday, who had been a patient in a mental hospital.

The other is Mrs. Betty Jean Benedicto, who took a baby from a San Francisco hospital in 1955 and returned it nine days later. She is also wanted for parole violation.

City Planners Okay Requests

Commercial use of two residential properties was approved by the City Planning Commission at its regular meeting Monday night in City Hall.

In other action, the commission ruled it will approve a proposed commercial use of another residentially zoned business place if two objectors sign a written agreement to withdraw their objections.

The commission received a plat for the sixth addition in the Fair Park subdivision.

Applications approved were: Harold and Betty Bell of 357 Franciscan Ave., to continue use of garage at rear of residence for part-time used furniture sales room, and Ruth Powell of 675 Wood St., to use kitchen of residence for small commercial bakery.

The application approved pending withdrawal of objections was submitted by Arthur E. Probst, owner of a grocery store building on the southwest corner of N. State and E. Fairground streets.

He asked permission to use the building for an automatic laundry by leasing it to Automagic, Inc. of Newark. The objectors were Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Thompson of 135 E. Fairground St.

The plat for the sixth Fair Park addition was presented to the commission by Ralph Howard, attorney for G. and G. Hornes, Inc., developers and builders of the subdivision.

Meeting on Toledo Labor Plan Slated

A meeting to hear reports on the operation of the Toledo Labor-Management Citizens Committee will be held in the Marion YMCA at 1 p.m. Jan. 14, Mayor Wendell L. Strong said today.

Purpose of the meeting is to investigate the possibility of establishing a similar citizens group here to help solve labor disputes.

The mayor today extended special invitations to all members of City Council, representatives of management and labor and the general public to attend the meeting.

Date and time of the meeting was set in a telephone conversation today between the mayor and Jerome Gross, director of the Toledo group. Mayor Strong reported that Mr. Gross said he plans to have with him representatives of both labor and management who are members of the Toledo organization. They will explain the operation of the committee there, the mayor said.

OSU Bureau Cites Advantages

Merger of 10 Local Districts Into One Would Strengthen Schools' Finances

By ALLAN BOVEY

The Ohio State University Bureau of Educational Research, in recommending that the existing 10 school districts in Marion County consolidate to form a single large one, included in its study the county's financial potential for future educational needs.

Last of a Series

In pointing out that none of the present districts is large enough to meet state standards and that, in consequence, a single district is the most feasible course for the county to follow, the bureau acknowledged that the districts offered greatly in their abilities to support their schools by taxation.

THE RESEARCHERS noted that all 10 areas have had a decided increase in valuation during the last eight years. The largest was in Green Camp, where valuation rose $2.7 million to a total of $10.3 million.

The smallest was in the Tully (Martel) district, where the 1958 valuation is less than one-half million more than it was eight years ago.

The percentage of increase in each of the 10 districts for the eight years ranged from 29 in Tully to 277 in Green Camp.

The per-pupil valuation since 1950 showed an increase in every district except Pleasant and Prospect. But, since school construction costs rose 37 per cent during the same period, the bureau concluded that only Caledonia and Green Camp, whose per-pupil valuations increased 54 and 90 per cent, respectively, are in a better position now than they were in 1950 to meet school plant needs.

The report revealed that seven of the 10 districts reported no tax levy for debt service in 1950. In 1958, however, each was levying taxes to pay bonded indebtedness.

This, the bureau said, was tangible evidence on the willingness of the communities to support public education.

OF THE 23 BOND issues submitted to the voters since 1937, only one, for an elementary school addition to the Grand Prairie building, had been voted down. Two years later, researchers noted, it was approved by a four to one vote.

In the last two decades, the bureau found, no county school district had failed to have an operating levy approved. Some 100 issues were placed on the ballots, with more than two-thirds of them approved by 75 per cent or more of the voters.

The survey revealed the total bonded indebtedness of all 10 districts on Jan. 1, 1958, was $2,818,800. The debt of a school district, under present Ohio statutory limitations, cannot exceed nine per cent of the total assessed valuation. Thus, the OSU experts declared, the combined districts could further bond themselves an additional $2,406,060 under the nine per cent debt limit at the current tax valuation.

THE BUREAU submitted the following figures on the debt of each of the 10 districts as of Jan. 1, 1958, according to data supplied by D. T. Mills, county superintendent of schools:

Caledonia	$174,000
Claridon	$216,000
Green Camp	$330,000
LaRue	$341,000
New Bloomington	$2,300
Pleasant	$450,000
Prospect	$78,000
Ridgedale	$353,500
Tully	$109,000
Waldo	$166,000

The tax valuation of Marion Township, amounting to $2,183,740, was excluded from the total, since the township was operating no school.

What would be the cost of the remodeling and the proposed new construction, as recommended by the bureau, if the single district plan were adopted?

The researchers, using a figure of $17 per square foot, as a construction cost yardstick, said the cost of the proposed two new high schools and an addition to the Ridgedale plant would probably total $2,229,000, exclusive of site acquisition.

Remodeling existing schools for recommended use would cost another $68,000.

This would leave less than $10,000 for purchasing the sites for the new high schools, but researchers expressed confidence that increased valuation prior to the voting of a bond issue would "certainly make the full recommended program possible under existing statutory limitations."

AS TO FUTURE tax rates, the OSU surveyors said that assuming no additional bonded indebtedness for school plant improvements and no loss of state foundation funds, a new district comprised of the 10 local districts would require a tax rate of 18.57 mills. This millage would, they declared, raise the same funds presently being provided from local taxes. As a result, four of the districts — Green Camp, LaRue, New Bloomington and Ridgedale — would have their tax rates increased, while six — Caledonia, Claridon, Pleasant, Prospect, Tully and Waldo — would have theirs reduced.

The bureau pointed out that the probable loss in state foundation funds (money given districts with relatively small enrollments) would increase the tax rate in the county by only .5 of a mill.

If the new district voted additional bonds to the full nine per cent statutory limit and experienced no appreciable loss in state funds, the tax rate would increase initially by about three mills. This three mills assumes additional bonds amounting to $2,406,000, to be amortized over a 23-year period at an annual interest rate of 2.3 per cent and no change in assessed valuation.

In short, the total school tax rate which might be expected in the new district would be a bit over 19 mills without additional bonds, or perhaps 22 mills or more if the district bonded itself to its nine per cent statutory limit.

Concluded the report, in essence: the money needed to provide the facilities recommended as a result of the survey would be considerable, but the total expenditure would be a "small price to pay for the improved educational opportunities which are likely to result from district reorganization."

Marion School Board

one-year term in the newly created post.

Board members voted the pay increase upon the recommendation of Supt. Robert S. Brown. A bond of $10,000 was authorized for her period in office.

In assuming the presidency, Mrs. Roberts, along with other members of the board commended Mr. Kohler for his leadership during the last year.

Mrs. Roberts declared that she was looking forward to her term with anticipation because of the cooperation and contributions each member was offering for the betterment of Marion public schools.

She also cited Supt. Brown for his "able and progressive administration."

SERVING THE fourth year of her first term on the board, Mrs. Roberts is the mother of three children and takes an active part in the life of her community and Epworth Methodist Church.

She is a member and secretary of the Marion City Recreation Commission and she serves as a counselor during summer youth camp periods at Lakeside.

A native of Kansas, she came to Ohio as a child and was graduated from a rural high school in Ross County. She attended Wittenberg College and earned a B.S. degree in education from Capital University.

She taught English and public speaking before her marriage to Kenneth Roberts, local contractor. The couple resides at 209 Forest St. Their children are Bruce, a sophomore at Union College; Joyce, a junior at Harding High School; and Keith, a sixth grader at Vernon Elementary.

A FOUR-YEAR contract for E. Paul Huffman, business manager, was renewed in other action taken by the board. Under terms of the new contract his salary will remain at $8,600 a year. This marks the beginning of Mr. Huffman's 10th year in the post.

During the regular business meeting a change order totaling $683.70 for the N. Main St. School addition was approved as submitted by Burris and Edwards, architects.

The board renewed membership for one year on the basis that each member assume more active participation in the quarterly sessions and study the advantages of affiliation with the group in relationship to the annual membership fee of $120.

Mr. Brown reported that the budget for the 1959 year will be presented for adoption at the February meeting. All members were present for the session, held at the School Administration Building.

Asked his opinion of the organization's merits, Mr. Brown said the group "is moving in the direction of many fine things" and promoting needed school legislation in the Ohio General Assembly.

The board renewed membership for one year on the basis that each member assume more active participation in the quarterly sessions and study the advantages of affiliation with the group in relationship to the annual membership fee of $120.

Mr. Brown reported that the budget for the 1959 year will be presented for adoption at the February meeting. All members were present for the session, held at the School Administration Building.

Asked his opinion of the organization's merits, Mr. Brown said the group "is moving in the direction of many fine things" and promoting needed school legislation in the Ohio General Assembly.

Prospect Will Battle Fredericktown Cagers Here

Bulldogs Shooting For Victory No. 10

Prospect will battle Fredericktown tonight at the Coliseum floor in the headline attraction involving four Marion County squads.

Other games will find Marion Catholic invading Cardington, Pleasant traveling to Elm Valley and Ridgedale playing host to Carey.

The Coliseum contest will match two of Ohio's top Class A cage powers. Coach Fred Cummings' charges will be shooting for their 10th straight victory while Marvin Schaffer's Fredies will carry an 8-2 record into the fray.

THE KNOX COUNTY powerhouse has rolled over Loudenville twice, Danville, Elm Valley, Belleville, Chesterville and Gambier while losing to Shreve 85-77 and to Utica 88-86 in an overtime battle.

Schaffer, working his team from a fast break, banks on a high-scoring offense. Thus far the Fredies have averaged 80 points per game while giving up 60.

Two lettermen are back from last year's team which recorded a 20-3 record. The two lettermen are Don White, 6-1 senior, who is averaging 17 points a game, and Tom Ruhl, another 6-1 senior with a 10-point average. Calteau, a 5-10 senior speedster, is the team's top scorer with a 23-point average.

McCumber's Bulldogs will go into the contest in a weakened condition, playing without the services of Dave Lauer who underwent an appendix operation during the Christmas holidays.

MCCUMBER PLANS to use seven cagers in his bid to top the Fredies. Leading the way will be veteran Tom Rodgers, a 6-1 senior with a 22-point average. Howard Moser, a 6-3 senior, will be at his regular forward post. He has compiled a 15-point average. The other two regular starters are Tim Hickman, 5-8 guard with a nine-point average and Darius Baumgardner, a 5-9 performer with a seven-point mark.

Lauer, a 6-1 performer, carried an 11-point average before his hospitalization. Filling the gap tonight will be Jack Fetter, Ken Phelps and Dick Halley.

Prospect, in building up its perfect record, has rolled over Radnor, Ridgedale, Orlentangy, Claridon, LaRue, Mount Gilead, Scioto Valley, Martel and Northwest.

Prospect's reserve team will carry a 7-1 mark into tonight's preliminary. Fredericktown's reserves have won eight while losing one. The reserve game will get under way at 7 p.m. with the Coliseum doors opening at 6.

MARION CATHOLIC will still be after victory No. 1, but the task of getting past the charges of Coach Richard Reinehr may be a sizable one.

Irish pilot Ray Robbins will send his cagers against a quintet that has posted a 3-3 record. The Pirates have recorded victories over Delaware Willis, Edison and Chesterville, while losing to Mount Gilead, Orlentangy and Scioto Valley.

The Orlentangy - Scioto games were Mid Ohio Conference tilts and Reinehr's crew was clouted 51-40 and 61-59 respectively. Marion Catholic, in a game with the Valleyans Saturday, fell by a 47-43 count.

The Robbinsmen will face a starting Pirate lineup comprised of two juniors and three seniors.

In all probability, Reinehr will have Mike Murphy, 5-10, and Gary Crum, 6-foot, at the guards tonight. Jerry Sheese, 6-4, will be at the pivot; with Jim Garrison, 5-10, and Bill Curtis, 6-2, as the forwards.

Ready to step into the action as top Pirate substitutes will be Kenny Miller, 6-4 junior; Bill Bensley, 6-foot senior; Larry Shoemaker, 5-8 senior; and Doug Clack, 5-10 sophomore.

Cardington, which, according to Reinehr, has "done exceptionally well on rebounds, but has made other mistakes," prefers to go with the fast break on offense, setting its defense to stop whatever its opponents have to offer.

Against the Pirates, Robbins is expected to use any combination of the following players: Tom Rish, Dennis Blue, Dennis Dickerson, Ted Anderson, Larry Roth, Steve Myers, Paul Hurney, and Harry Traugh. To date, Hurney and Roth, both sophomores, have given Irish fans the most to cheer about. Roth, two weeks ago, was high scorer in the Catholic 52-39 loss to Mansfield St. Peter, with 19 points. Hurney, against Scioto Valley Saturday, rolled in 18 digits before fouling out early in the final quarter.

Bill Hartack's horses in two Garden State Stakes earned $1,663 a second. He won the 1956 race with Barbizon and the 1957 event with Nadir.

VICTORY DANCE. Ken Venturi does a dance on the 18th green after he came in with a record-equaling eight under par 63 in the final round to win the Los Angeles Open by a two-stroke margin. Venturi Takes Golf Crown in Closing Surge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 1959 winter golf season was off to a rousing start today with good-looking Ken Venturi a spectacular winner of the first tournament on the rich money trail.

As the nomadic professionals headed for the next stop, the $20,000 Tijuana Open in Mexico Friday, Venturi counted the $5,300 he picked up off his tremendous come-from-behind victory in the $35,000 Los Angeles Open.

At tea-off time at the Rancho Golf Club Monday the 27-year-old pro from Daly City, Calif. played in a threesome with Joe E. Campbell of Knoxville, Tenn., and amateur Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., which attracted practically nobody.

The gallery, braving cold, was trailing the leader, Art Wall Jr., Billy Maxwell, National Open Champion Tommy Bolt, Mike Souchak and two youngsters, Doug Sanders and John McMullin.

Venturi was eight strokes behind Wall after mediocre rounds of 72-71-72 for the Rancho Club's par 36-35-71.

So all Venturi did was knock out two birdsies and two back-to-back eagles on the first nine holes for a course record 30, blast on in with a 33, post a 63 for 278 and sit back to see if Wall could crack it.

Wall made a gallant bid, but it was not quite good enough by two strokes.

Wall had gone into the lead with scores of 71-68-68 for 207, and his last round 73 beat such threats

Jenkins Records Year's First Hole-in-One Here

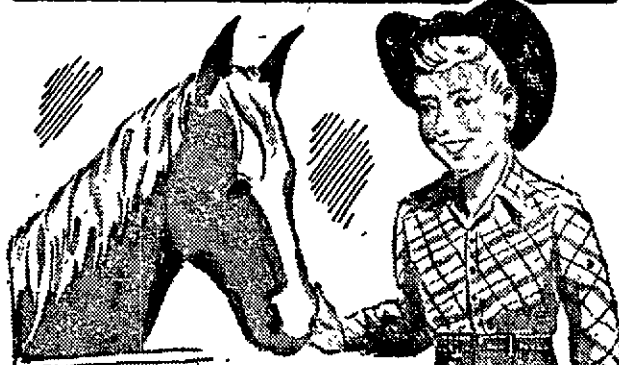

Wayne Jenkins of 369 Bellefontaine Ave. became the first golfer in Marion to score a hole-in-one for 1958. He scored his ace Saturday at Marion Country Club, according to Jack Stoddard, club pro.

Jenkins, using a 5 iron, aced the club's No. 15 hole. He was playing with Vern Street, Wally Thompson, John Dugan and Paul Schwemley.

Cincinnati Cagers Fall To 7th Spot

By The Associated Press

The unbeaten Kentucky Wildcats—boasting 11 victories, the longest season streak of the country's major teams—held down first place for the third consecutive week today in The Associated Press basketball poll.

But North Carolina State, Auburn and St. John's (N.Y.) all made notable gains.

On the strength of victories over Cincinnati and Michigan State in the Dixie Classic, North Carolina State moved into second place. The Wolfpack, fifth a week ago, collected 30 votes for first place and 1,115 points in the balloting by 137 sports writers and broadcasters.

Kentucky, however, garnered 81 first place votes and 1,245 points on the usual 10 points for first, 9 for second etc. basis. The Wildcats padded their victory total by three last week. They will go after their 12th straight tonight at Vanderbilt.

Auburn climbed from ninth to sixth place. The Plainsmen whipped previously undefeated Mississippi State for their 19th straight over a two-year span.

Ask Compromise Coaches Will Seek Goal Post Changes

CINCINNATI (AP) — College football coaches who scorned the two-point conversion rule have now learned to live and play with it. But they are seeking a compromise. They want the goal posts moved to the goal line.

The majority of delegates here for the annual convention of the American Football Coaches Assn., realize that the two-point rule, enacted suddenly a year ago by the NCAA Football Rules Committee, has won popularity among the fans and is not likely to be changed.

They contend, however, that putting the posts back on the goal line would make a more equitable game.

Members of the AFCA Rules Committee, headed by former Columbia coach Lou Little, refused to comment on recommendations they would make to the parent NCAA for action at its rules committee meeting next week in Los Angeles. But Little was expected to have an announcement today.

Little's group met in closed session Monday, while many coaches on the sidelines had this general comment:

"I wish I were on that committee. I'd tell them how to straighten out this two-point business."

The main session on the NCAA convention opens Wednesday.

The American Assn., of College Baseball Coaches, concluded its meetings today, topped off by a coach-of-the-year dinner honoring Rod Dedeaux of Southern California's NCAA champions.

First Time in Ohio Grid Officiating Class Slated in Adult Courses

The Adult Education Program at Harding High School, in cooperation with the Ohio High School Athletic Association and the Ohio Football Officials' Association of Marion, will conduct a training course for football officials during the regular sessions at the high school this year.

This course is designed to aid prospective football officials in their study of the rules and mechanics of the game and in preparation for the examination required to become a registered official in Ohio.

THE COURSE will mark a first in Ohio. The course has never before been held at a high school. In addition, the examination has always been held but once each year, the first Monday in October. Persons taking this course will be permitted to take the examination at the conclusion of the course, thereby making them eligible to officiate games during the 1959 season. It also affords them the opportunity and benefit of guided study and experienced instructors.

The course will consist of 10 weekly sessions of two hours each and will start Jan. 13. The cost of the course will be the $5 enrollment fee to the Adult Education Program plus the regular $5 fee to the Ohio High School Athletic Association. This fee covers the cost of the three text books, examination fee and includes the first year's dues in the OHSAA.

INSTRUCTOR for the course will be Robert E. Ferguson of Marion. Mr. Ferguson has officiated for the last 11 years, is secretary of the Ohio Football Officials' Association and a member of the Ohio Association of Football Officials. He will be assisted by other registered officials in the local association.

Persons interested may contact Mr. Ferguson at 2-2336 for an application card. The application and fee of $5 must be returned to him not later than Friday and the enrollment application for the Adult Education Program may be obtained at Harding High School by contacting Emil Lisak, program director, this week.

The course is not restricted to persons wishing to become officials. Any interested man or woman may enroll to further their knowledge and understanding of officiating. Registered officials desiring the course as a refresher are likewise welcome. The fee for these persons is the $5 enrollment fee to the Adult Education Program.

100 Tickets Remain to Dinner Honoring Harding Grid Coach

Only about 100 tickets are left for next Tuesday night's recognition feast for Harding High School grid coach Gordon Larson and his 1958 state champion football squad, sponsored by the Marion Lions Club.

That was the word this morning from Thayer Martin, chairman in charge of arrangements for the program.

The banquet is to be held starting at 6:30 p.m. in the UAW-Union hall on Leader St.

Mr. Martin said that upwards of 300 duets to the affair have already been sold. Total capacity of the hall is 600 and seating has been set aside for approximately 200 guests, including the footballers, members of the Prexy marching band, the cheerleaders and Larson's coaching staff.

Feature attraction of the night, in addition to the honoring of Larson, his boys and others connected with last season's Harding grid activity, will be a talk by Woody Hayes, colorful boss of Ohio State grid fortunes.

Robert T. Mason, general manager of WMRN, will serve as toastmaster, with Edwin J. Mitchell to introduce Coach Hayes. Special guests will include Jerry Harbin and Bob Lister, members of the 1957 Prexy grid squad and numbered among the freshmen footballers at Ohio State this fall.

The sponsoring club will present Larson a bronze plaque on which is inscribed the names of the 1958 varsity players, the coaches and the scores of the nine games played. The plaque will be placed in the Harding team locker room.

Tickets, at $2 each, may be purchased from any member of the Lions, Mr. Martin or Jackson Taft, chairman of the ticket committee.

Ted Williams Ready To Ink 1959 Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Attention Joe Cronin: before you take that job as president of the American League, send Ted Williams a contract. Ted says he's going to play in 1959.

Williams, generally recognized as the greatest hitter of modern baseball, listed his intention to play at least another year at an informal press conference Monday night.

"I don't know how long I'll be able to continue in baseball," commented the controversial outfielder. "Three or four years ago I'd have said I wouldn't be playing now. You just can't tell."

Williams, who at the age of 40 won the American League batting title with a .328 average, said he expects to play at least 100 games. "I'd hate to think I couldn't," he said.

The slugging outfielder of the Boston Red Sox was in the city for a sports show at which he gave a flycasting exhibition. He appeared in fine condition although he complained of being a trifle heavy.

Larson Names Dave Martin to All-Star Staff

Gordon Larson, Ohio's high school coach of the year for 1958, today announced the second selection to his Northern staff for the annual North-South Ohio All-Star football game next August at Canton.

Dave Martin, head coach at Cuyahoga Falls High School, was named to assist Larson, who was selected as head coach for the North team. Martin, a veteran of 12 years in the coaching ranks, compiled a 7-3 record during the last year. One of his losses came at the hands of state champion Alliance.

Martin is a graduate of Bowling Green State University and was a roommate of Larson one year. He has coached at Oak Harbor and Perrysburg before taking the Cuyahoga Falls post. During his 12 years of coaching, Martin has compiled a 72-31-3 record. He served on Chuck Mather's Northern staff in the 1953 All-Star game.

Larson previously had named Bill Barton, head coach of Elyria's Pioneers to his staff. The All-Star clash will be held Aug. 15 at Canton's Fawcett Stadium.

Larson was slated to leave today for Cincinnati where he will sit in on the NCAA convention sessions. He will remain in Cincinnati through Saturday.

Venturi

as Maxwell, Bolt, Souchak and company.

But it couldn't overcome Ken's marvelous round. Venturi's first two birdies came on putts that traveled 12 and 18 feet. His first eagle came when he whacked a 2-iron on his second shot on the 542-yard eight hole 18 inches from the pin. It only took a tap to sink the ball.

He followed with a putt from down below the ninth green that traveled some 40 feet.

The 30 broke the course 9-hole record of 31 set by Bolt in 1956. Venturi took a bogey four on the 12th when his ball hit a spectator. But he birdied the 14th and 16th holes with 20 and 3-foot putts, and birdied the 18th with a 12-foot putt.

His 63 equalled Bolt's course record, also set in 1956.

Wall collected $3,400 for his 280, while the runner-ups were: Maxwell, 72 for 281 and $2,200; and Sanders, 74 for 282 and $1,000.

Bolt and Souchak had 73s for 283 and a tie with Paul Harney and amateur Allen Geiberger of Santa Barbara. The pros got $1,533.33.

position. The voting was based on games through last Saturday.

There was an almost complete shuffle in the other positions in the top 10.

North Carolina moved up a single notch to third place. Michigan State bounced back from its N.C. State setback to edge Indiana. This triumph enabled the Spartans to advance two spots to fifth place. Cincinnati, which also lost to North Carolina, tumbled from second to seventh. Kansas State slumped one place to fourth.

Two Illinois teams, Northwestern and Bradley, held the other positions among the nation's elite. Northwestern was ranked eighth after beating Iowa and Notre Dame.

Bradley jumped from 10th to ninth after trouncing Drake Saturday for its eighth straight triumph.

Top 10 teams with first place votes and won-lost records through Saturday, Jan. 3 in parentheses (points on a 10-9-8 basis):

G. W. Parratt Funeral Rites Are Scheduled

CLEVELAND (AP) — Funeral services will be held Wednesday for George Watson (Peggy) Parratt, 74, an outstanding athlete more than a half century ago at Case Institute of Technology. He also was connected with early professional football in Ohio.

In 1906 he was an All-Ohio quarterback at Case, and for two seasons before that had been an All-Ohio end. He was captain and coach of Case's first baseball team, and organized and played on the school's first basketball team.

After getting his engineering degree he organized the Akron Indians, first professional football team in that city. Later he owned and managed the Canton Bulldogs, another pro football team.

He died Saturday at the home of a sister, Miss Anna H. Parratt, in Lakewood. He is survived also by a daughter, Mrs. Maryann P. Daum, two grandchildren, another sister and two brothers.

We Perform These . . .

"7" STEPS

1. Accurately diagnose the repairs needed on your car.

2. If you request it, we will give you an analysis of the work to be done.

3. Secure your authorization to do the work before starting.

4. Notify you in advance of any additional work we think should be done, and secure your approval before proceeding.

5. Perform all the work on your car as efficiently and as economically as possible and will replace only those parts which in our judgment need replacing.

6. Road test your car after the work is done and before we return the car to you, if the nature of the work requires it.

7. Have your car ready on time. If the work takes longer than we estimate, we will advise you as far in advance as possible.

8. Provide you with an itemized bill showing exactly what work was done and exactly what it cost. We will gladly explain any items that are not clear to you.

History's Biggest Hunt for Knowledge

Scientists Studying Mass of IGY Data

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Over a luncheon table, Germany's Dr. Julius Bartels searched a moment for the right words:

"We set out traps for nature. Then when nature does something, we often learn her secrets."

To Bartels, professor of geomagnetism at the University in Göttingen, this was the essence of the IGY, the 18-month International Geophysical Year which just ended.

It brought the greatest single hunt in history for knowledge — about earth, sun, weather, and the new province of space into which humans are eagerly reaching.

The traps for nature were tended by 30,000 scientists and volunteers from 66 nations in a huge cooperative effort.

Now nature is yielding a treasury of secrets.

First of a Series

THE FULL wealth of meaning and significance, however, must await months or years while scientists analyze the literally millions of observations concerning weather, gravity, electrical phenomena, and other forces and events affecting the destiny of the earth and its people. Practical benefits are bound to come from IGY.

The sun, our life-giving star, was one main focus of IGY.

For every minute of 18 months, the sun was held under constant watch by 100 observatories around the world, to count its stormy sunspots, record its gigantic flares, or explosions which often choke off radio communications and hang the shimmering Northern Lights in our sky.

And the sun obliged, staging the greatest sunspot activity since 1778.

SPECIAL ROCKETS soaring up for brief glimpses discovered that flares shoot out great bursts of X-rays. X-rays always are beaming out of the sun. It's the added X-rays from flares which apparently cause radio fadeouts on earth.

For the first time, rockets reached above obscuring clouds during an eclipse of the sun, learning that the solar X-rays stem from the sun's corona or atmosphere, not its disk.

IGY scientists set their traps to learn what these bombardments do to the earth's magnetism and electrified ionosphere, and what actually happens on the sun. Out of it all could come knowledge to achieve limitless energy for man's machines and power stations on earth.

ROCKETS FLYING 50 to 150 miles up found the earth's atmosphere to be perhaps 10 times denser at high altitudes than had been thought, with strong daily and seasonal variations — factors influencing weather.

Although the feat was accomplished a few hours after IGY's end, man took a giant stride when the Soviet union sped past the moon and headed into an orbit around the sun this week.

At 2 a.m. Monday, however, it was announced in Moscow that radio contact with Lunik had been lost.

A huge surprise was discovery through U. S. Satellites of two great and hazardous bands of radiation ringing the earth at altitudes of 1,400 to 8,000 miles.

Vanguard — the little grapefruit-sized satellite — turns out to be one of the most useful space voyagers.

Murder Count Will Be Asked In Dayton Case

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Montgomery County sheriff's office says it plans to ask the county prosecutor to file a first degree murder charge against James Rose, 19, in the fatal shooting of his wife, Linda, 18, mother of their 3-month-old boy.

Rose first told detectives he did not know the .22 caliber revolver was loaded when he pointed it at his wife Sunday and pulled the trigger. He said it was merely a joke.

Later, however, Detective Sgt. W. C. Stevens of the Dayton police department said Rose admitted he shot his wife deliberately after an argument over marital difficulties. The statement was made during a lie detector test Monday, Stevens said.

Mrs. Ethel Mathes, mother of the slain girl, said her daughter had saved pennies for nine months from her grocery money in order to buy the pistol for her husband.

Youth Gets Break

CINCINNATI (AP) — Walker Kiser, Jr., 15, in juvenile court Monday charged as the driver in a hit-run accident that killed a boy, got a break from the boy's parents, Max F. Ellerbusch, whose son Craig, 5, was killed in the accident Dec. 19, said he'd like to give the youth the opportunity his son might have had. He said Kiser would have a job and go to college if he wants. Judge Benjamin Schwartz granted the youth probation.

Later, however, Detective Sgt. W. C. Stevens of the Dayton police department said Rose admitted he shot his wife deliberately after an argument over marital difficulties. The statement was made during a lie detector test Monday, Stevens said.
